Recorder Newspapers are one of the strongest newspaper brands in the area, with a reputation for good quality local news and sport. They are committed to maximising the impact of your advertising, by helping you reach as wide an audience as possible.

BRAND 2 HAND & ONLINE

The Brentwood Recorder has been launched to target both the local population going about their everyday business and the commuter on their return journey from London. This busy commuter line, serves people working in the city and compliments the already strong brand loyalty associated with the Romford Recorder Series.

The popular brand to hand distribution teams, mean that stopping at a newsagent in this area for your local newspaper on your way home, will become a thing of the past. By distributing on the return journey, the readership of these titles in the home is likely to increase, as people take their newspapers home to read and enjoy. With 7 day TV, property sections, recruitment and classifieds, the life expectancy of these titles, extends well beyond that of a national newspaper, and thus increases exposure of your business.

This tried and tested method, initially used by the national daily titles, suggests that people taking a copy are more likely to read it, as they have made a conscious decision to take the newspaper from the distributor.
